

Headline	New initiatives to improve English lessons
Date	20 Oct 2010
Media Title	The New Paper	Section	News watch
Description	At the Inspiring Teacher of English Award ceremony last night, it was announced that Ministry of Education would be implementing the “Whole-School approach to English Language” at 40 pilot schools.

New initiatives to improve English lessons

TO BUILD a good English environment and culture in schools, the Ministry of Education (MOE) has implemented the “Whole-School approach to English Language” at 40 pilot schools.

In these primary and secondary schools and one junior college, teachers, students and administrative staff will set aside time to learn together and improve their use of English. These plans were announced at the Inspiring Teacher of English Award ceremony yesterday, where 10 English teachers each received a trophy, certificate and cash award from Mr S Iswaran, Senior Minister of State for Trade & Industry, and Education.